

A JOURNEY best describes the unique relationship between the facilitator and youth. This journey involves the building of an equal relationship characterized by trust, the sharing of expertise, moral support, pastoral care, and knowing when to help and when to sit back.

HUG neither sells nor promotes specific programmes since we firmly believe in uniqueness of every individual. In our youth-led adult-facilitated model, we restore agency to the youth, encourage self-mastery, and affirm each unique person as the principal agent of transformation; I can do it!

When the necessary supports and services are provided it is expected that positive outcomes will result.
